To do list 	Research which schools you are interested in applying to and check what their exam requirements are.	Research where you will take the exam. You might be able to take the test at your school, if not check on: www.admissionstestingservice.org/find-a-centre Schedule your preparation course approximately 4 weeks before your test date. This will give you enough time to work through all your practice material and still remember all the key strategies and techniques. Now focus on your AS Levels!	Start with taking your Kaplan BMAT course, it is best not to start reviewing too many practice questions beforehand, as this can lead to the early learning of bad habits! Once you have completed your course, you now have access to your Online Study Centre. This includes 5 full length practice tests and recorded lesson videos. Take Practice Test 1 and help identify your weaker areas and establish a score to build from.	As you identify areas that you need to work on, it's best to go ahead and review the relevant online videos from the course, to make sure you understand the strategies and techniques. Follow up your video review with practice tests and practice questions from your strategy book. Continue to work through your full length practice tests, going through the detailed explanations, to help you understand why the incorrect answer choices were wrong and why the right answer is right! This will also help you identify areas that need further practice and review.	Keep studying through the home stretch! Review each of the lessons from your course book and online videos. Make sure to take note of what you can and cannot bring into the test centre. Get a good night's sleep!	Plan to get to the test centre approximately 30 minutes early, so you won't be late. Answer every question! Tell us how you did! We love to hear about our students' test day experiences, email us at kaptest.uk@kaplan.com

Tips 	You are likely to need to take the UKCAT exam as well, particularly for undergraduate applications. Testing starts earlier for the UKCAT, so you may want to focus on this exam first. Take note that some schools may require the UKCAT/BMAT for graduate entry programmes too, so make sure you prep for the right exam at the right stage.	Plan to prepare in the way you learn best, i.e. Classes, tutoring, self-study. Give yourself at least 2 weeks before the test to work through your course material,	Replicate actual test conditions when you take the full length tests. Do not use your study materials. Don't spend too long on any single question, as you will run out of time & lose valuable marks!	Your online lesson videos are broken down by section and topic, so it's easy to find the one you need to review. Remember to keep on reviewing your stronger areas, spending extra time on your weaker areas.	Make time each day in the week before the test to relax and have fun with your friends and family. Time away from the BMAT will help reduce stress. Remember you will be one of few BMAT test takers to have prepared thoroughly for the BMAT exam, giving you a huge advantage on test day!	Bring a snack to eat before you enter the test room.

CONGRATULATIONS! Now relax & celebrate.
